Rochester, NY: Machi & Machi Communications is pleased to announce that Albert Paley: In Search of the Sentinel, a film written, produced and directed by Tony Machi has won a prestigious CINE Golden Eagle Award. The CINE Golden Eagle Award recognizes excellence in professional and amateur works and is known internationally as a symbol of the highest production standards in filmmaking and videography.

In the spring 2007 CINE competition, more than 300 judges viewed and evaluated hundreds of entries. Professionals in the field of film and video production, as well as subject matter experts, served in a volunteer capacity. Entries were judged by at least two juries using standards of overall excellence, evaluating such criteria as writing, sound, editing, creativity, visual presentation, insights and the extent to which the film met its stated goals and communicated with its intended audience.

Additional credits for Albert Paley: In Search of the Sentinel are: narration, actress Jane Alexander; principle videography, Steven DeMonte; original score, James Sawicki; sound, Aaron Austin, Andy Corneles and Matt Machi; editing, Tony Machi, Christopher DeAngelus and Andy Corneles. Albert Paley: In Search of the Sentinel is a presentation of WXXI-TV, Rochester, New York and is distributed by American Public Television.

Since its founding in 1957, CINE has been dedicated to discovering, rewarding, educating and supporting established and emerging talent in film and video. Among great talents whose first major awards included a CINE Golden Eagle are Steven Spielberg and Ron Howard and documentarians Ken Burns, Charles Guggenheim, Stanley Nelson, Albert Maysles and Frederick Wiseman.
